

Sample Menu for Your 1–2-Year-Old Child

Toddlers have small stomachs and need to eat often. Offer 3 meals and 2-3 snacks each day. Your child may eat more or less than the suggested portions below. The amount can vary from day to day, meal to meal. Trust that your child knows when they are hungry and when they are full.

1. Whole grain, low sugar cereals include: infant cereal, oats, plain or multigrain Cheerios. Look for iron >15% DV.

2. Milk

- © Milk source may be breastmilk and/or whole cow's milk (3.25% mf). After 2 years of age, you may switch to a lower fat milk such as 1% or 2% providing your toddler is growing well.
- © If breastfeeding there is no specific amount of whole milk to offer; if not breastfeeding, aim for 400-500 ml (~ 2 cups) of milk per day. If formula feeding, transition to whole cow's milk at 1 year. If you are not providing whole cow or fortified goat milk, continue with a soy formula until 2 years.
- © Milk alternatives such as soy milk, almond milk, oat milk etc are NOT advised before 2 years of age because they are inadequate in nutrients needed for healthy growth and brain development.
- 3. Flavoured yogurt: <10 g sugar per 100 g portion. Choose full fat types, >3% m.f.

½ cup whole milk, 3.25% mf

½ - whole homemade muffin

½ cup whole milk, 3.25% mf

1/4 - 1/3 cup fruit salad

4. Fats and oils - small children have small stomachs and need extra calories to support growth. Add small amounts of butter, non-hydrogenated margarine or oils such as olive oil to foods when serving. 2022
